

ODELL SAYS HE'LL WIN.

Feels Every Confidence in the Result and Leaves Question of Figures to Chairman Dunn.

IGNORES HILL'S CHARGES.

Gives Platt the Cold Shoulder and a Chilly Greeting When He Met the Senator on His Arrival This Morning.

"EVERYTHING LOOKS FAVOR-ABLE. I FEEL VERY CONFIDENT.
I NEVER FELT ANYTHING BUT CONFIDENT. AS TO FIGURES, THAT IS A MATTER OF CAMPAIGN WORK, AND YOU MUST LOOK TO COL. DUNN FOR FIGURES."

—Gov. Odell to-day.

When Senator Platt walked up to Gov.
Odell in the Fifth Avenue Hotel this morning he evidently saw that the atmosphere was exceedingly cool, as chilly relatively as it was outdoors.

He paused in his pace as he was about to hold out his hand. Gov. Odell didn't extend his hand but simply nodded. The Senator came to a standstill and bowed almost as coldly.

"Good morning," returned Mr. Platt.
Chairman Dunn opened the door of the Governor's apartments and the three stepped inside.

The Governor arrived from Binghamton at 5 o'clock this morning.

An Evening World reporter at 8 approached him with a request for his reply or comments upon the detailed statement of Senator Hill regarding the charges against him and the many alleged varying replies to them.

"Stop right there!" commanded the Governor, with uplifted hand.

"I will not discuss that subject in any form or phase."

"As they say in diplomacy, it is a closed incident, then?" suggested the reporter.

Refers All to Col. Dunn.

"I will not discuss it. Any statement that may be made will be done by Col.
Dunn," said the Governor.

"It has been said that you were so alarmed by the situation that you were coming to New York to take personal charge of your campaign," suggested the reporter.

"I am here and I shall be right here all day. I am resting my voice. I am to make three speeches in this city this morning and two on Long Island next day. Then I shall go home and stay there until election," replied the Governor.

"Hold on, there, Governor," interrupted Col. Dunn. "You got some business for you to attend to."

"Oh, well, all right," returned the Governor. Which being interpreted means that the Governor is going to remain on the ground and personally supervise the closing of the campaign.

Regarding the situation Gov. Odell said:

Sentinel Platt, after his conference, when asked for an expression of the outlook replied with a brave smile:

Platt Makes a Prophecy.

"Look in my face and see if you cannot read there what I would say. I am confident as bright as the sun."

National Committeeman Fred Gibbs busted in and taking the Governor into the inner sanctum shut the door and held a confab with him.

Two years ago Gibbs won a "pot of money" setting Odell would have more than 100,000 majority. To-day he said he had made no bet this year, but had no doubt of Odell's re-election.

New Occupation for Odell.

Col. Dunn would not tell the nature of some "important work" he had for Gov. Odell to do, which is supposed to be the Governor close at his side till the battle was over.

It is understood, however, that the "important business" will be the management of the fight, which has grown too fier for Odell.

Neither would Col. Dunn venture an explanation of the queer antics of that Republican organ which is supposed to sneer when Senator Platt takes snuff at a Republican local quarrel in various parts of the State, while it editorially supports the Republican ticket, and which caps the climax with a poll of the State which gives Odell only 8,000 majority.

Busiest Day To-Morrow.

To-morrow will be Gov. Odell's busy day. He has three speeches to make in Manhattan and the Bronx and three parades to review.

More than 20,000 Republicans are expected to be in line and a supreme effort will be made under the direction of Chairman Ten Eyck, of the County Executive Committee.

Mayor Low will preside at Cooper Union, where the Governor will speak at 8:30 o'clock, followed by Secretary of War Elihu Root and Archie Baxter.

The Governor will next appear before the West Side Republican Club at his mass-meeting at Durland's Riding Academy, in Westchester, at 7 o'clock.
Assistant United States Attorney-General
James N. Beck, John S. Wise and Lewis Cass, of Albany will also speak.

Foraker to Be a Speaker.

The Governor will be driven next to Brommer's Park in the Bronx, where he will follow United States Senator Joseph B. Foraker, of Ohio, and be followed by Tax Commissioner James L.
Wells.

There will be grand displays of fireworks at each meeting, for they close the Republican campaign in Manhattan and the Bronx.

TROOPS STUCK RETURNING HOME.

Laborers Rain Hail of Missiles Upon Heads of Passing Militiamen from Top of Skyscraper.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 29.—A scene denounced by bystanders as contemptible and outrageous marked the return of the soldiers of the Fourteenth Regiment from the anthracite region today.
While passing down Fifth avenue they were assailed with lumps of concrete, blocks of wood as large as bricks and even tools, thrown from the twenty-first floor of the new Farmers' Deposit Bank Building, at a height of 275 feet, by workmen.

The act evidently was premeditated.

MRS. EDDY NOT TO BE INDICTED.

No Law Under Which the Leader of the Christian Scientists Can Be Held in Connection with the Quimby Case.

TEACHING NOT EVIDENCE.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 29.—All hope of indicting Mary Baker Eddy, the "high priestess" of the Christian Science Church, for being implicated and morally responsible with other Christian Scientists for the death of seven-year-old Esther Quimby was abandoned this afternoon when Assistant District-Attorney Frederick E.
Weeks made the announcement that there is no law under which Mrs. Eddy can be held.

He said that the jury will not consider her in the future.

There appears to be nothing for which Mrs. Eddy can be held. Mr.
Weeks said, discussing the matter, "Justice Cullen has decided that a person cannot be extradited unless such a person was in the State at the time of the commission of the crime and then left the State."

"In the first place Mrs. Eddy was not in New York at the time Esther Quimby died, therefore she cannot be extradited under any circumstances."

"Secondly, there is nothing on which she could be held. Her teachings, which were not and would not be sufficient evidence to hold her."

"If indeed she is found guilty of the Quimby and Lathrop will be far different from any ever drawn in this section, more particularly so if the charge be manslaughter in the second degree."

LAURA BIGGAR STILL HIDING.

Was to Have Surrendered at Freehold To-Day, but Chanced Mind.

Samuel L. Frankenstein, attorney for Laura Biggar, who has been in hiding ever since she was accused of conspiracy to get the entire fortune left by Henry M. Bennett, the Pittsburgh millionaire, told an Evening World reporter to-day that his client would surrender to the New Jersey authorities at Freehold this afternoon.

They had planned, he said, to go over to Freehold on the 11 o'clock train on the New Jersey Central Railroad. They didn't go. Miss Biggar didn't show up at Frankenstein's office, No. 45 Broadway.

Then Frankenstein made bold to say that they would go on the 1:30 o'clock train. He left his office alone at 1 o'clock and drove away in a cab, but neither he nor Miss Biggar took the 1:30 train for Freehold.

A reporter was at the train to see them off. When another call was made Frankenstein's office the lawyer was not there, but his partner said Miss Biggar had decided to postpone her surrender to another day. He would not give any reason for the original announcement nor for the alleged change in the plan.

MORGAN'S YACHT AGROUND.

The Corsair I. Stuck in the Mud Off Hoboken.

J. Pierpont Morgan's yacht Corsair I. ran aground in the mud opposite the Fifteenth street basin, Hoboken, this afternoon at 12 o'clock.

Tugs were set at work to try and pull her into deep water. It is thought she will be floated in the high tide. Her captain said she would be put into dry dock afterward to see if she sustained any injury.

THIEVES LEFT FORTUNE TO DEAD.

Ransacked Room Full of Treasure, Where Woman Lay Lifeless, Evidently Searching for Deeds or Her Will.

MONEY LAY ON TABLE.

Body of Mrs. Carter Even Moved, and Desks and Bureau Had Been Broken Open in Quest for the Documents.

Detectives are completely mystified in their efforts to discover the motives which actuated the persons who broke into the death-chamber of Miss Mary A. E. Carter, at No. 1835 Carter avenue.

At first it was supposed to be a simple case of robbery, but this theory is exploded by the fact that the persons who entered the house left a large quantity of money and fine silverware scattered about the room in which the body lay.

On a table near the bed were found several bank bills of large denomination, which had fallen from between the leaves of a Bible and which must have been seen by the intruders.

Much Silverware There.

On the bed itself were quantities of solid silver spoons and forks, and in a rear room was found a chest filled with similar articles. None of them, evidently, had been disturbed.

A search of the death chamber revealed $2,000 in greenbacks, a large part of which was hidden between the leaves of stray volumes. Some jewelry in a bureau drawer had been left untouched.

Sister Makes Investigation.

Mrs. George W. D. Naugle, of Quincy, Ill., with her husband, arrived in town to-day. She is a sister of Miss Carter and went at once to the house. After she had made an inspection of the premises she said to an Evening World reporter:

"I found the top drawer of the bureau and two desks broken open. A screwdriver had been used and the contents of all the receptacles had been strewn about the room. So far as I have been able to ascertain nothing was taken unless it was the deeds to my sister's property and her will. Her cash and bonds and cash, as well as her silverware, were not taken."

"I cannot understand the case at all.
It may be that we will find her will and deeds somewhere else in the house. If they were taken, I cannot imagine the purpose of the thief. Certainly, one who has any interest in the property would have done such a thing, and the papers can be of no service to any one else. It is possible that some inquisitive busybody got in there and was frightened away after rummaging about."

A cousin of the deceased, Mrs. William Carter, of Uptonport, said that Miss Carter must have had an income from her art work of about $5,000 a year and had saved $20,000. Not long ago she sold a plot of ground for $3,000. The premises in which she died are valuable. It is understood that a large sum had been offered her a large sum for the property.

Miss Carter inherited the house in which she lived from her father, who was a noted dentist at No. 1 East Forty-second street. Her father was rich in wealth in speculation in 1885, but saved enough out of the wreck to purchase the place at No. 1835 Carter avenue.
He died two years ago, leaving a widow, who survived him six months.

CHINAMAN DIES OF WOUND.

He Attacked Her in Laundry and She Wounded Him.

Poe Wah, the Chinese laundryman who was stabbed in his laundry at No. 780 Grand street, Wednesday, yesterday afternoon by eighteen-year-old Mary Kern, of No. 125 North Fifth street, died this afternoon in St. Catherine's Hospital.

He did not recover consciousness after he fell in the street while pursuing the girl.

Pier story of the stabbing was that Wah tried to assault to-day after locking the door of his laundry and that she stabbed him in defense of her honor.
She will be arraigned in the Ewen Street Court, in Brooklyn, to-morrow morning.

WEATHER FORECAST.

day, for New York and vicinity:

WON'T PROSECUTE MOLINEUX FOR BARNET MURDER.

District-Attorney Jerome this afternoon when asked if Molineux would be prosecuted for the murder of Barnett in case he was acquitted in the present trial said that he did not think there was evidence enough to justify such action.

COULDN'T SUPPORT HER CHILDREN, KILLED HERSELF.

The body of Mrs. Martha McKay, forty years old, of No. 307 East One Hundred and Fifth street, was found in East River this afternoon. She drowned herself last night in despondency over her inability to support her seven children, left fatherless.

GAMBLING HOUSE BARRICADED BY STEEL AND IRON TO BAR OUT POLICE.

This Thirty-third street palace of chance is protected by steel doors, steel bars at every entrance, steel trellis work at each window, secret metal exits over the roof and a big iron fence, ornamental but almost impregnable, which faces the prospective intruder who has no "open sesame." Beyond is the splendid wrought-iron door which once formed the portal of a church in Rome.

GAMING HOUSE TRUE FORTRESS. FIRST SNOW OF SEASON IN CITY. HOSTILE HELP CAMP IN HOTEL.

Steel Bars, Steel Roof Exit, Steel Doors Guard Palace in Thirty-third Street Which Rich Men Frequent.

With the sun shining and turning the little soft flakes to sparkling diamonds, New York got its first snow of the season to-day. It began drifting down from the blue sky a few minutes before 1 o'clock. It was a puzzle at first as to where it came from, but a glance at the sky showed shifting masses of feathery clouds passing swiftly over the city.

They must have been mounting a little and dropped part of their feathers.
Every one in the streets downtown stopped to wonder and to gaze. In a few minutes there was a let-up, but at 1:30 there was another passing cloud, which dropped more flakes. They were not thick enough, however, to even wet the pavements, being swallowed up by the dry dust of the streets.

This is the earliest snowfall in the history of the Weather Bureau, which was established thirty years ago. Oct.
29, 1882, held the record for snowfall, so that this year beats it by one day.

DUNKIRK IS SNOWED UNDER.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Snow fell heavily in surrounding country during the night. A fall of four inches is reported in Hills, six miles south. Town and platform of incoming trains were completely covered and had the appearance of having been caught in a blizzard.

Thomas D. Hook, until last night proprietor of the hotel, held a conference in the office with Attorney David Meyer, of No. 236 Broadway, and Henry Ruhle, proprietor of the Parker House, in Broadway, and the Hotel Virginia, in Park Circle. After the conference Mr.
Meyer met the other employees who were demanding their back pay and announced to them that their wages would be paid in the morning. He said he had only $382 in money at the time and some large checks. He announced that Henry Ruhle had purchased the hotel and that he had arranged in the morning they could make their arrangements about work with him.

When Mr. Ruhle arrived this morning he brought his own help and informed the old employees that Mr. Meyer had filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy for Hook and that they would have to go to court for their money.

Thomas Stewart, the steward of the hotel, rallied the other employees about him, and they decided that they would not budge until they had received the $400 due them in back wages.

A Collection for Lunch.

At noon they took up a collection among themselves and sent out for lunch. They ate it in the office and staying-rooms of the hotel, and Mr.
Stewart, who is a culinary expert, announced that they would not leave the hotel until their wages had been paid.

Mr. Ruhle sent out for a policeman.
The man on the beat came in, and he consulted with his captain, and they decided that the unpaid employees were not raising a disturbance and that they could do nothing.

STATE FAILS MOLINEUX'S LAWYER SAYS.

Ex-Gov. Black Expresses Confidence in Coming Victory After Prosecutor
Hurriedly Closes His Case

WILL DEMAND DISMISSAL.

Osborne, Almost in Tears, Announces All Testimony In-Receives Hard Blow in Ruling Out of Melando Girl's Story.

STATEMENT OF BLACK.

The prosecution has made no case and I shall move for a dismissal of the case the first thing in the morning.

The case of the State has rested solely upon evidence given by handwriting experts, and we have proved that an expert can see anything if the inducement is sufficient.

The other witnesses, such as Mrs.
Rogers and Cornish, were not important. They were called to prove a motive, and failed.

Nothing substantial connecting Molineux with the death of Mrs. Adams has been shown, and this will be proven by the verdict of the jury.

STATEMENT OF JEROME.

We have shown by our handwriting experts that Molineux wrote the address on the package containing the poison.
Each expert said the hand-writing on the wrapper was a disguised form of Molineux's usual hand.

We have established motive beyond any doubt. The poison was sent to Cornish. Molineux was his worst enemy.

We are, of course, greatly disappointed because we could not get in the evidence of Melando's story, and the other witnesses. After the scene in court this morning I do not wish to say anything further as to why those witnesses were not in attendance.

Ex-Gov. Black was exultant this afternoon when Assistant District-Attorney Osborne announced that the State had closed its case against Roland B. Molineux. He expressed the conviction that Molineux would win.

Mr. Osborne had received a hard blow at the hands of Justice Lambert, who declined to permit to be read the testimony given at the former trial by Mamie Melando and Detective Farrell, of Newark. This knocked out two of the strongest links in the State's chain, and they were the more important
